RESTRAINING ORDER.

Yesterday morning, Common Pleas Judge Ambler issued a temporary restraining order, preventing A. H. Wilson from repairing automobiles and engines on West Second street opposite the property of Lora P. Schilling, who instituted the litigation through her attorneys, McCarty and Pontius. The court decided to give the defendant leave to present his case at 8:30 o'clock next Monday morning. The plaintiff avers that on account of the alleged wanton operation of automobiles at the garage across the street from her property has caused it to be depreciated.

Through a misunderstanding the "News" announced Tuesday morning that Common Pleas Judge Harter had decided the divorce case of Annie Yoder vs. Daniel Yoder, when the case had been continued until November 2, to secure additional testimony. It was the Boals vs. Boals divorce case which was disposed of.

SCHEMES TO RECOVER REVENUE

Which Was Lost Through Anti-Liquor Legislation

Every Line of Business and Profession Must be Under License, According to the Alabama Plan.

Special Dispatch to the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 10.—The new license schedule of this city to make up the loss of revenue from the liquor tax through state prohibition has been placed in book form by the City Council. A perusal of its pages discloses some interesting figures, and many businesses, professions and individuals are now taxed through being compelled to take out a license that never before were assessed. State prohibition has worked a tremendous loss of revenue and this loss is taxed against the people.

The farmers in the future will have to pay more for their hardware and agricultural implements and their seeds, for the reason that hardware stores must pay a license tax from $15 to $200 a year, according to the value of the stock they carry. All seed dealers must pay from $25 to $75 per year. Dealers on horses, cows, and other live stock are assessed $50. Grain dealers are on the list from $50 to $100. Already prices of these commodities have been advanced on the farmers and in other cases less is paid for their farm products.

EVEN THE GRAVEYARD.

Taxes from the cradle to the grave may be illustrated by the fact that the doctor who assists one into the world is taxed from $15 to $40 and the milk peddlers who bring the baby's food must pay $20 to $35, while the undertaker who closes your tax-wear eyes and "plants" you must give up $65. The price of your grave will cost more, as cemeteries must have a $100 license. The shaft that marks your last resting place you will pay more for, as tombstone dealers are taxed $35!

Dealers in the necessities of life are not overlooked, as is witnessed by the following schedule of licenses: Meat dealers, $75 to $250; grocers, $12.50 to $200; sausage makers, $10 to $100; coal dealers and peddlers, $10 to $100; produce dealers, $50; dry goods stores, $15 to $400; clothing stores, $15 to $200; co-operative home building companies, $300, and the places where you deposit what you may have saved, building associations, $100 to $500.

OTHER FEES CHARGED.

Miscellaneous fees are: Bag makers, $50; blacksmiths, $5; broom makers, $10; buggy makers, $10 to $150; drug stores, $35 to $200; florists, $35; fruit stands, $65 to $125; fruit trees, $10; infirmaries, $65 to $150; machinery makers and dealers, $50 to $200; tailors, $35; stove dealers, $10 to $75; tin shops, $25; vegetable dealers, $35; vinegar makers, one in year agents or dealers, $35. Many of the license scales being based on the volume of sales daily, each business taxed, and the license ordinance requires that each day the gross amount of sales of each business must be reported to the license collector, under penalty of fine and imprisonment.
